

☆教科書本文

One photograph changed Hoshino Michio's life.

He was a university student,
and one day he was very attracted to a photograph in a book about Alaska.

It was a photograph of a small village in the middle of the wilderness.

The village was Shishmaref.

Michio wanted to visit and experience that place for himself.

So, he wrote a letter to the mayor of the village.

The mayor invited Michio to Alaska, and his dream came true.

☆教科書本文

For one summer, Michio lived among the Inuit people in that Alaskan village.

He learned about Inuit food, family life, and culture.

He also learned how to live without city conveniences.

The Inuit hunt for meat and gather berries for food.

They have a long tradition of living harmoniously with nature.

Michio understood something very important — all living things share this planet.

That summer, he became a part of the Alaskan wilderness.
